To Drop 10 Percent Extra on Postcards

Since last fall when Congress passed a law to advance the price of postcards from one cent to two, at the same time there was an increase in price for the cards of 10 per cent when bought in quantities more than 49. That brought about complaints from all corners of the country and Congress has been studying the situation. The 10 percent extra charge was voted in the beginning of the increase to help defray the shipping charges of cards in large amounts.

Postmaster Gen. Donaldson has set March 22 as the date for abolishing the 10 percent extra charge as an aftermath of congressional action.

Hadley Pupil Third In Spell-down

The efficiency of the "little country school" is again brought to mind by Lawrence Troutman, 13, an eighth grade pupil of the Hadley school, placing third in the Will county spelling bee, held Saturday at the Rialto theatre in Joliet.

Larry went down in defeat before the word "scythe" when he omitted the "c". His third place rated him a wrist watch to remind him of the comparative victory.

This was the second annual spell-down sponsored by the Joliet Herald-News. The county winner will be rewarded with a trip to Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. American: President Truman says it's a fighting job but he likes it—but the boys in Korea don't; so if you intend to vote Democratic, vote for Kefauver and if you intend to vote Republican vote for Taft. Your boys will like that better.

To the Editor: The ad that Mr. Scarth had in the paper last week started me to thinking. He has been investigated and recommended by a self appointed committee. Who will now investigate the investigators? We know many of the candidates of the school board jobs better than we know the members of the committee.

Statement by Non-Partisan Committee

On Saturday April 12 we will elect an entirely new Board of Education of seven members. This Board of Education will replace the present three man board of directors which has governed our school district for so many years.

There are several ways in which candidates may be chosen:

1. Any individual may take it upon himself to get a petition and circulate it among his friends and neighbors for the required 50 signatures.
2. Candidates may be hand-picked by certain individuals in private.
3. Candidates may be selected by a group of citizens interested in school affairs and administration who gather in an open meeting called for the express purpose of selecting candidates whom they feel will serve the best interests of our school children and who owe no support to any single person.

Doesn't the last method appeal to you as being the American way? The way neighbors should act, the way of the old town meeting system? It was with that thought in mind that a group of interested neighbors met and proposed the formation of a Citizens Non-partisan School Committee to which every voting citizen of district 159 would be eligible to join and to take an active part. There was no secrecy, no politics.

On March 3, an open meeting was held to which all citizens were invited to attend, including the seven candidates who had already had their petitions circulated. This meeting was announced a week in advance in the News-Bulletin. Unfortunately and with no excuses, all but one of those candidates failed to put in an appearance.

The meeting discussed all of the candidates, discussed potential candidates and then voted to endorse the following candidates as being the most suitable for the new Board of Education: Gordon Bruce, Ed Bruesser, Fred Lehmann, Virginia Sherwood, Charles Swanberg, Clyde Yunker and John Scarth. Later articles will tell of the qualifications of these candidates and the reasons why they were selected above others.

The next meeting of the Citizens Non-partisan School committee will be held on March 26 at the VFW Hall. Make it your business to attend.

Gerrit Swart, President.
Kenneth Sherwood, Publicity.

Walter Herschbach Native of Frankfort Is Favored by Many

Mr. Herschbach, who lives in Joliet with his wife and daughter 14, and son 11, was born and spent his boyhood in Frankfort. His mother and sisters live in that village now, and therefore this area is much interested in him winning the election.

But not for that reason only, but during the past many years he has shown good ability when he served as assistant state's attorney. He has given freely of his time to many civic drives, Red Cross, Community Chest etc.

His program includes not only law enforcement, but public service above self, vigorous prosecutions tempered with understanding; cooperation with all who believe in principle in government; a closed door for crooks and an open door for law abiding citizens, Christian doctrines as a foundation for all work.

Businessmen, farmers, housewives, laborers as well as those in the professional fields from county towns and Joliet alike voluntarily are offering their services to Mr. Herschbach.

Everything is in readiness for the big show which the New Lenox Lions club have been working on for the past several months. It is called "The Cavalcade of Stars" and will be given two evenings, this Friday and Saturday March 21 and 22 in the Haven public school auditorium, at 8 o'clock.

It will consist of a popularity contest and an amateur show. Mr. M. C. Loebe will be master of ceremonies. The winner of the popularity show on Friday and Saturday nights will each receive a $25 Savings bond, and the girl having the highest to tal votes for the two nights combined will receive a $50 bond. In addition she will be the Queen of the New Lenox Lions and will be crowned by Miss Marlene Born, who was Miss Illinois of 1951. It will be an exciting moment for some lucky girl.

In addition to the 10 amateur acts each evening, there will be outstanding special numbers. Among them will be Marjorie Berens, organist; Mary Greenman, dialogue; the Will County Rural chorus, itself worth the price of admission; Norma Jean Palmer, accordionist, and a special dance by Miss Borns.

Present will be Herr Oster and his classroom capers—the teacher with his pupils, Heimerdinger, Hofer, Kammerer, and Feil, and it has been stated they sure are dumb bells. But seeing is believing.

Competing for Queen are, Mary Lou Loebe, Betty Jo Oster, Marilyn McElfresh, Ruth Heimerdinger, Bobbe Ann Thomas, Norma Jean Palmer, Cici Baers, Jeanette Warning, Martha Kern and Florence Cruise. Each one of these are rounding up all the votes they can and no one knows how much each has.

Everyone is invited from all the surrounding towns and villages to an evening of good wholesome entertainment. The proceeds will be used for the New Lenox Lions activities.

Best time for planting a wind break is from the last week in March to the first week in May. Best location is on the north and west sides of your farmstead.

gymnasium of the Frankfort public school. Because of the sacred nature of the movie, no admission will be charged but an offering will be taken. They extend a cordial invitation to everyone in this territory to mark that date on their calendar, so as not to miss this unusually splendid picture.

The pastor of the Mexican Baptist church in Joliet has seen this play and stated the only fault he could find with it is that it is not long enough. The time of the play is 90 minutes. In no other way could such a play be brought to small towns except through motion pictures.

The date is Sunday evening, April 20, one week after Easter.

Build Soil's Crop Yielding Power Instead of Buying More Land, Economist Advises

High Corn Yields Per Acre Mean More Net Profit From the Crop.

BUILDING up your own land's crop yielding capacity is smarter business right now than buying additional acres, advises Frank Miller, University of Missouri farm economist.

Miller says land worth $40 an acre can be made into 100-bushel corn land by soil improvement methods. Such a plan may cost from $40 to $50 an acre, but land that will produce 100-bushel corn crops is worth $200 an acre or more.

Making your present acres produce more bushels involves several steps. To grow high yields, your soil needs a well balanced supply of plant nutrients.

That means adding a complete fertilizer containing nitrogen, phosphate and potash. Testing your soil is a good idea. It will tell you what plant foods the soil needs and whether liming is required.

Building up the organic matter supply is equally important, so your crops will get more use out of the rains that fall and the fertilizer you use. Deep-rooted legumes and grasses grown regularly in the rotation are the best source of organic matter. In addition, the legume roots will loosen up tight soil, improve drainage and condition the land for corn and other crops. Legumes need plenty of phosphate and potash.

Higher Per Acre Yields Cut Bushel Cost Help Combat 5-Fold Rise in Farm Expenses

Forty acres of well-fertilized pasture carry 40 head of cattle all summer long on Ed Roeser farm near Watkins, Minn.

FARM expenses that have increased 5-fold in the past 10 years can be combatted by building up a greater volume of business through increased crop production per acre, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

The committee cites a recent study by Paul Robbins, Purdue University agricultural economist, which shows that average farm expense has risen from about $3,000 annually in the 1935 period to about $15,000 in 1950. Robbins based his analysis on operating accounts kept by 600 Indiana farmers.

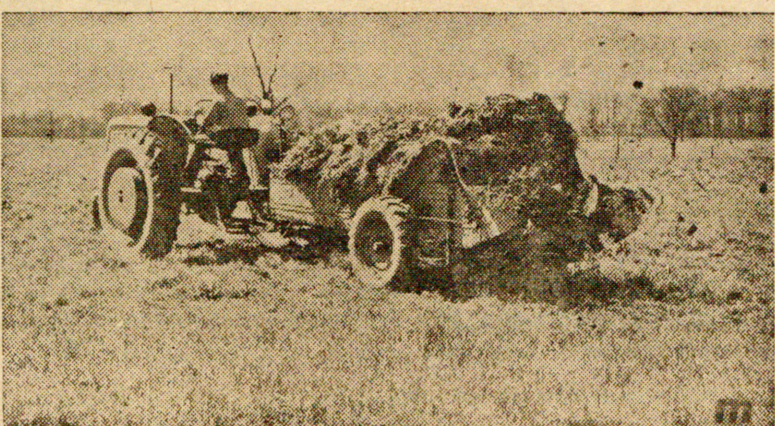

The answer to keeping costs down, Robbins stated, lies in increasing yields per acre and perhaps operating more land to create a sufficient volume of business to keep men and machines fully employed.

The committee points out that a cheap way to increase the volume of farm business is by the greater use of fertilizer. Plant food, it says, costs only 50 to 60 per cent more today than it did 10 years ago, whereas the cost of many other commodities has risen two or three times above their prewar levels.

Good soil management methods including the use of fertilizer can help boost the average yields of major farm crops from 50 to 100 per cent in most states.

Robbins' survey shows that farmers have seven to eight times more cash invested in equipment than they did 10 years ago. Labor costs have risen steadily, but have been balanced to some extent by increased mechanization of farm work, more efficient use of labor and increased crop yields.

Adding Superphosphate Helps Manure Make Better Top-dressing for Wheat and Legumes

One Load of Manure Does the Work of Two When Superphosphate Is Added.

BARNYARD manure can be put to good use in top-dressing winter wheat. Ohio agronomists recommend a winter top-dressing of 4 to 5 spreader loads per acre.

Manure top-dressings will also help new legume seedlings which go into the winter with weak and short top growth. The manure serves as a mulch which cuts down winterkilling and heaving losses. Besides the mulching benefits, the manure's plant nutrients boost hay yields.

Prof. C. J. Chapman, University of Wisconsin extension agronomist, says that one load of manure can be made to do the work of two if superphosphate is added to the manure. He points out that manure contains about twice as much nitrogen and potash as it does phosphate. This nitrogen, largely in liquid form, evaporates rapidly in the form of ammonia. Chapman says that adding superphosphate helps prevent nitrogen loss by locking it up in nonvolatile form and stopping its evaporation.

Chapman says superphosphate can be spread in barn gutters at the rate of a pound per cow per day, or the superphosphate can be added when the manure goes out to the field.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

It Isn't the Heat—It's the Hide!

Big discussion after the Grange meeting Friday night. Tik Anderson was arguing that hogs were lots more affected by the hot weather than cattle. Skeeter Morgan declared that it wasn't so—that he never saw any hogs bothered by the hot sun like his cows were.

I was glad when Rusty Robinson stepped in.

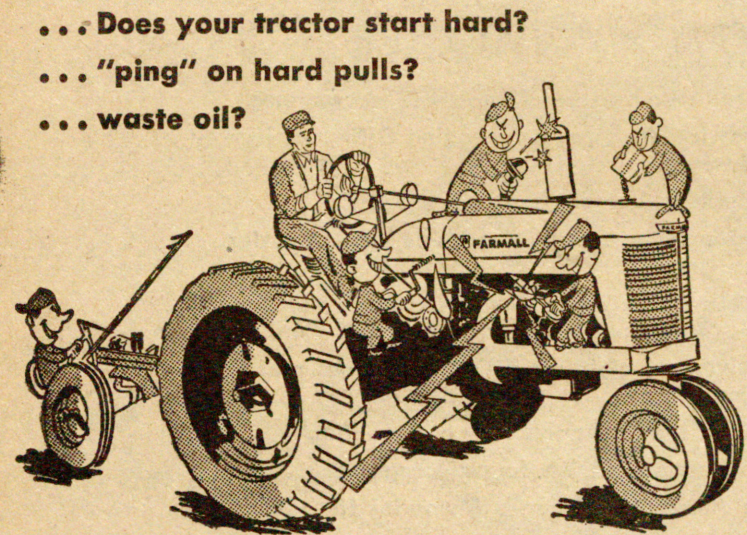

"Boys," he says, "don't get so riled up. It all depends on what the livestock are. Hogs or cattle, the ones with light-colored coats absorb less heat from the sun's rays than animals with dark coats. So you're both right!"

From where I sit, so many useless arguments could be avoided if a person would remember he doesn't have all the right on his side. Reminds me of folks who insist that coffee, for instance, is the only drink, forgetting that other people have a right to a glass of beer now and then. If we wouldn't get so "het up" about our prejudices—we'd all be better off!

Plans Revealed To Reforest Preserves At Orland-Tinley

(CNS)—The Forest Preserve District's Spring planting program will begin about April 1st it was announced Friday by Noel Wysong, chief forester of the forest preserve district.

The major reforestation plan will be concentrated on 50 acres of land at 143rd and Ridgeland, in the Tinley Creek Forest Preserve district, Wysong said. He estimated that 1200 trees to the acre could be planted.

About half of the trees will be Oak, of the White, Bur, Red, and Northern Pin species. Maples will comprise about 15 to 20 per cent of the trees and the balance will be Elm, Hackberry, Sycamore, Linden, Black Cherry and a few Silver Poplar. Wysong explained that these trees are ones that grow naturally in the Cook County area.

The planting of the trees is done by two mechanical planters, each run by three men. This way they are able to plant from seven to eight thousand trees per day. Young trees, from one to three feet in height and one to four years old are transplanted from the nursery west of LaGrange.

The fifty acres to be planted are all open fields, which were rented out for farm land by the forest preserve district until last year.

Wysong estimated that the district has planted over 10,000 acres of open field with trees since the first piece of property was acquired in 1916.

He said that they were able to reforest about 100 acres of land per year, planting in the spring and fall, and that they would also plant possibly several hundred trees to be used throughout the forest preserve areas where trees have died.

Most of the landscaping to be done by the forest preserve district will be concentrated in three areas.

About 500 or 600 shrubs and trees will be planted at Pipe-of-Peace golf course, at 134th and Halsted, and from 1500 to 2000 shrubs will be planted at the Trailside Museum at Chicago and Thatcher. This will be done both for beauty and to control soil erosion.

Wysong also said that they will begin reseeding of grass this spring in the picnic areas where grass is worn out.

Also as part of the Spring program is the spraying of trees to get rid of the sap sucking scale insects.

Wysong said that this spraying is done after the danger of freezing weather is over and before the buds open.

One other phase of the Spring plan will be the fertilizing of worn out soil, to provide good growing conditions for trees.

All work is done by 19 people. Wysong asked that people be careful of spring fires. Forest fires, he added, are not limited to the fall.

Personal Observations

Justifying my original position on this matter.

by CLAUDE A. WALKER,
Publisher Forest Park Review

The withdrawal of William N. Erickson from the Republican gubernatorial race was quite a shock to me. Coming as it did in the midst of a vituperative campaign by his political enemies as well as a few of the metropolitan newspapers, it made it all the more humiliating to me that he had to go down without a fight. I know that in time he will vindicate himself and to me he is still the same qualified man whom I predicted would do a good job in the Governor's seat, just as he has as President of the County Board and the other offices he has held previously, public or otherwise.
I need not make excuses for Mr. Erickson. However, I feel that I would like to pass on my analysis of the situation.
First of all Bill was a victim of a political system of which he couldn't help be a part. A party system that exists on what is commonly called "patronage." A system that is practiced throughout this nation and willingly accepted by the public. A system whose existence is based on their first rule that "To the victors belong the spoils."
Thus it was and still is no secret that with politics as it is practiced in these United States, there are always some few on the public payrolls who get by without working by virtue of the fact that they have something in the form of votes that is deliverable to a political organization. The general public knows this and condones it, the press knows it and unless it makes sensational reading, ignores it, and all politicians know it because they practice it. So I know that it wasn't such a great shock to Mr. Erickson when he was being accused of harboring those on the county payroll that might not be giving value received, for while he himself didn't directly approve of such conduct he couldn't go about following 6500 county employees to see that they put in their full time. Furthermore, because of the apathetic attitude of the public and party conventions he didn't bother about it.
The second defense I offer for Mr. Erickson is that he was a victim of his own friends. In many instances he ordered men to work whom he thought would do a good job. In all too many of these instances these men took advantage of their friendship for him and to say the least "got away with murder," causing Erickson no end of embarrassment when the so called "expose" came.
The third element that played the heaviest part in this situation was the pressure put on it by the metropolitan press. Two of the Chicago papers who have Democratic leanings began to "view with alarm" the tremendous popularity that we being generated by Mr. Erickson not only in Cook County but down state. His slogan that he was the "man who can win in November" was getting to be more and more of a reality and the men who direct the destinies of these two newspapers began to fear that Mr. Erickson might actually beat their boy "Adlai" in the fall, and that wasn't entirely to their liking.
Thus, being old masters of news slanting and political intrigue, they evolved that oft used before election hue and cry that there were payrollers and "phantoms" on the county payroll. This wasn't hard to prove and soon a front page issue was made of it. The other Chicago papers couldn't very well sit idle on such an issue and they too took up the cudgel for "better government." The results were obvious, as they generally are when the press takes up an issue. Soon they had Mr. Erickson pinned to the wall in the interests of "honest government" and he was forced to resign. Which in the final analysis was exactly what the 2 original Democratic newspapers wanted him to do because he would have been too tough to beat in November, and had they started that same campaign in the fall perhaps their own candidate might not have been able to withstand the same scrutiny of his payrolls. Lord knows, he is having enough troubles of his own right now as it is; what with the horsemeat scandal, cigarette tax scandal and his own Director of Labor associated with (Shush-shush) a member of the West Side block.
Further evidence to support my theory that Democratic news papers started the "purge" is the fact that only payrolls of the county board were scrutinized. No effort was made to check payrolls in any of the "Fee" offices of the county, nor was any effort made to check, say Mr. Stratton's State treasurer payroll, or perhaps one of Governor Stevenson's departments.
Finally, since Mr. Erickson withdrew, we are back on the horsemeat scandal and all further exposures of county payroll padding have been forgotten.
In conclusion, I reiterate that Bill Erickson will come out of this a bigger man than ever and I have every reason to believe that those who instigated this vicious campaign against him

Mokena School News

First Grade

The first grade has been busy preparing an assembly program which they gave last Friday. It included a play entitled "Mother Goose's Children", in which every child had a part. The Rhythm Band played three numbers, "London Bridge is Falling Down," "All Through the Night" and "America." Then we entertained by singing three songs, "The Boy Next Door Has a Rabbit to Sell," "One, Two, Three" and "A Little Bird."
Next we had a finger play "Let's Take A Walk."
Our last number was called "A Trip to Grandpa's Farm." We acted out each part of the trip.
Science and spelling are our two latest subjects added since the midterm. Great interest is shown in illustrating the science lessons. Every child works for a crayola star which can be achieved every Friday if the pupil gets 100 on the words studied that week in spelling.
Our latest project is a weather chart which we will keep during March—Minnie L. Pester, teacher.

Second Grade

We have been learning to write number combinations correctly on paper. We leave a pencil space between each problem, so the work looks neat and can easily be read. At the top of each paper we put a heading which includes the name of the subject, the date, and the name of the child.
In science we have been studying about clouds and the different forms of moisture. We made a rainy day picture. We also made windmills and put them in the windows for decoration.
We had visitors one day last week. Three teachers from Chesterton, Ind. came to visit our school. They were quite interested in the activities of the school.
Now that the fourth grade girls and boys are studying about Australia for a social studies unit we are arranging bulletin boards in keeping with the study. Our imaginary trip across the United States by railroad to San Francisco, on by steamer to Honolulu, from there to the Fiji Islands and on to Sydney, Australia, was enjoyed by the children. Other possible routes and means of travel to our destination were also discussed and observed on a map of the world. As we plan detailed study of this smallest continent we shall have opportunity to arrange more than one Australian bulletin board.
When the children of our room planned and carried out a very lovely birthday surprise party for their teacher she was not only surprised but very happy and appreciative of being remembered by her "girls and boys." Knowing that the parents aided and cooperated in the carrying out of the children's plans added much to the joy of the occasion.
In the third grade, during the study of a short unit about grain it was discovered that many of the children did not know how the different grains looked. Since Bobby Manzke is a farm boy he brought samples of several different kinds of grain. Two kinds of rice and popcorn were brought by other members of our room. By using scotch tape each child arranged an exhibit sheet containing the various kinds of grain. It is hoped that now each child will know these grains if he sees them. One of our bulletin boards holds these exhibits.
To make "letter writing" real each of us wrote a letter to Sullen Polzin who left our room early in February to live in North Carolina. We sent them to her at her new home, all of them being placed in one large envelope. When we received a reply telling how much she enjoyed our letters and also telling about her new home and her life there, we enjoyed that too. To get practice in addressing envelopes we cut envelope sizes from manilla paper, addressed them, and posted them in a chosen area on the bulletin board.
The "Hobby Shelf" has afforded a "share my hobby" situation. When, in Science, we read about the stars and the different constellations we enjoyed George Phelps's sharing of his Natural History magazines.—Mary Joy Leedom, teacher.

4-5 Grade News

Both classes have completed review booklets of their language and history work.
Suzanne Kellogg brought a splendid collection of pictures of Christ and they are being displayed by our bulletin board manager, Anthony Dina and his coworker, Bill Seavertson.
Sandra Swinford has been working with Wilbur Teske and Everett Heinecke, our music librarians, on musical numbers to be sung and played during our music periods.
Lee Yunker brought in and mounted several interesting and helpful maps that are used in both classes. Bill Sayers and Lewis Johnson his aid, have no difficulty now in passing out individual maps to those desiring same.
Some time ago Carole Jeanne Gilmore brought in a large heavy paper on which were the pictures and names of the state flowers. We have used this picture many times, and still enjoy studying it.
Mrs. Ruby Wheatley, teacher

6th Grade

The sixth grade made some interesting maps of South America in geography classes. First we drew the maps on very heavy pieces of cardboard. Next we mixed salt, flour, and water together in proper proportions and added red, yellow, green, and blue food coloring. We used this mixture and formed the countries of South America by alternating the four colors. After the maps were thoroughly dried, we painted the oceans surrounding the continent with light blue enamel. Most of the completed maps looked very nice.
In arithmetic we have been learning about division of fractions. When you divide fractions you invert the divisor and then continue by multiplying the numbers. Some pupils have difficulty in remembering to invert the divisor.
We are reviewing the material covered in our text books during the third quarter for the tests to be given the week of March 17.
The class is enjoying the reading of "The Bobsey Twins of Sugar Maple Hill." Penny Spiewak brought the book to school.—Edith Warning, teacher.

DEARBORN Lift-Type TANDEM DISC

with built-in angle...never needs changing

Nothing like it on the market! This great disc can be attached to a Ford Tractor in a minute or less. You lift it off the ground by just moving the Ford Tractor Hydraulic Touch Control lever. Speed down the highway with no wearing or chipping of blades.

In the field, you lift the disc for turning. This prevents ridging dirt, saves time and fuel. Lift it over wet spots and for backing, too. There's never any pulling at ropes or levers. "Fixed" angle of gangs and rigid frame give level, uniform result at any depth desired.

Business Woman

Lesson for March 23, 1952

THERE were no timetables and no maps on the ship that carried Paul from Troas to Samothrace and Neapolis. But even if there had been maps posted in the passengers' cabin, and even if they had had the words ASIA and EUROPE where they ought to have been, it is doubtful whether Paul or any of his party would have thought that as important as we think it is.

Dr. Foreman

For the Christian religion was now for the first time, so far as we know, leaping from the continent of its birth to the continent where it would have power for more than a thousand years. But Luke, writing Acts, does not even notice this fact. To educated people of that day, the name of the continent of "Europe" meant little or nothing. It was mostly populated by barbarians anyway.

The important world of that day was centered around the Mediterranean. Going into Macedonia from Troas was simply going from one province of the Roman Empire to another. Centuries went by before Christians realized what an epoch-making step this was.

She Was at Prayer-Meeting

IF there were no maps, there were no Hotel Red Books, either. There was no way of wiring ahead for accommodations. When Paul arrived in Philippi, a strange city, he did not look up the Travelers' Aid or the Chamber of Commerce; he hunted up the nearest prayer-meeting.

There he met and converted the woman named Lydia, the first European ever to become a Christian. She is in many ways a kind of sample of many and many a Christian after her. For one thing, she was a business woman, a seller of purple, that is, the purple dye which was so expensive and so much in demand in those days.

It is an interesting fact that while Christianity draws from every level of society, top to bottom, the first convert in all Europe was not a rich man, not a beggar, not a professional man, not a slave, but an independent, middle-class business woman.

Successful Salesman

CHRISTIANITY has always appealed to salesmen. They do not pretend to be the greatest people on earth, but they have always helped to make the world go 'round.

One of the most vigorous Christian organizations in America is the Gideons, made up entirely of traveling salesmen. It would be interesting to think what it is about the Christian religion that appeals especially to business people, but we must pass on.

Lydia, we note, must have been successful in her purple-dye business, since she had a home big enough to entertain the entire missionary party. Able, successful people, people who can go out against stiff competition and make good—the Christian church is well supplied with such persons. They have always been the backbone of the church.

Then Lydia was also a successful woman. Some religions, such as Islam, appeal especially to men, and leave women out of the picture except in so far as they can be useful to men.

Christ, on the contrary, ever since the earliest days in Galilee has made an appeal to both men and women. Indeed, one of the greatest triumphs of Christianity has been what it has done for womankind.

If woman's lot over the world is better than it was 3,000 years ago, if women would rather live, if they had their choice, in Christian lands than where Christianity has never taken strong foothold, it is because of the kind of religion that Christianity is.

Open Heart, Open Home

FURTHERMORE and most important, Lydia devoted what she had to the service of Christ and his cause. She set her house at the disposal of Paul and his missionary friends, and we can well imagine that Lydia had a large part in later years, in sending those parcels to Paul in prison at Rome. How much the church owes to hospitable women!

A good church is one into which the women who are members carry the same hospitality that is their habit at home, not only opening their homes to ministers, missionaries, Christian workers, but making the church itself a home-away-from-home for the lonely.

Life without a woman's touch would be a dreary thing; and so would a womanless church.

FARMERS OPPOSE FORMATION OF

draw more residents, hence fore business etc.

The proposition to establish a Mosquito Abatement District in South Cook County is being strongly opposed by farm organizations in the area. President Charles Erickson of the Cook County Farm Bureau declared today that property owners in a large area will be paying a tax of sizeable proportion to solve a purely local problem. Other civic organizations, garden clubs and fish and game conservation groups are expected to take a similar stand.

Speaking for the organization Mr. Henry L. Moehling, chairman of the Public Relations and Taxation committee summarized the opposition in the following:

1. The organization of another layer of local government to control a relatively minor nuisance troublesome only a few months during the year is poor policy from an administrative standpoint.

2. Press releases by promoters of the district indicate that sums of up to one million dollars will be levied annually to support the district. This sum of money could be much better used on vital services such as police and fire protection, sewage disposal and schools.

3. There are few areas in South Cook county where mosquitoes are numerous enough to become a so-called "menace." If such a district is organized many sections of South Cook county already meeting the problem will be forced to pay a share of the expense for people living in areas where they have not previously tried control measures.

We object to this robbing Peter to take care of Paul when Paul is already taking care of himself.

4. People interested in the conservation of fish, game and wild life, as well as farmers, are afraid that the spray program promised by the proposed district would seriously interfere with the development of pollinating insects in the area. The killing-off of these pollinating insects could result in considerable loss to people engaged in the production of produce for market.

Mr. Erickson points out that his organization has consistently favored and supported legislation in the public interest. This does not mean, however, that every time a minor nuisance arises in a small area in the community that a new governmental organization with the power to lay and collect taxes should be organized. "We believe in good governmental policies," Mr. Erickson stated, "but we believe that the organization of a district such as this is especially bad from an administrative point of view."

Finance Drive On To Oust Mosquitoes

The South Cook County Mosquito Abatement finance drive is being continued, in order to pay for ballots, lawyers fees and informational activities preliminary to the election, tentatively aimed for June 2. Tinley Park representative is Mrs. Blue of 16951 Oak Park Ave. They have recently received a donation from the Dolton Civic improvement group, in addition to those previously mentioned from groups in Palos and Worth townships. In line with their program of informing the voters concerning the issue, speeches have recently been made in several villages and the group will speak the evening of the 20th, before the Governor's Park Women's club. Mrs. Cowan, president of the Association, says most realtors strongly favor the formation of Mosquito Abatement districts as mosquito free communities.

community, draws high type potential employees.

It is true, according to Mrs. Cowan, the program has to be paid for, and the amount is less than we now spend as individuals. Of course, it is in the same proportion ($2.25 per $1000 a.p.v.) on all property owners, great and small. The amount can not exceed $250 a year for a factory assessed at a million dollars. This is hundreds of times less than is assessed for Poor Relief, Forest Preserves, etc. The real objection of some industrialists seems to be that some other districts are poorly administered, or retained after all usefulness is past. We respectfully submit that our Ass'n. has been formed with the specific intent of maintaining citizen interest in its administration and so far has demonstrated that interest at every turn. Rather than condemn a new and needed district for the faults of the old, civic organizations should take steps to revise administration of those criticized, or abolish them.

Most mosquitoes in South Cook county are bred between towns, on marshland not suitable for residence or farming. The mosquitoes there bred, bite few people there, but many in nearby suburban and urban areas. Since the people owning that property could not possibly pay for necessary draining or damming operations, that is why the law provides for spreading costs on the basis of this fact. "Annoyance and disease occur where people live, and benefits of abatement are received where mosquitoes bite, not where they breed."

WASHINGTON AND

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Recently this writer has been widely quoted on an open letter addressed to Prime Minister Churchill of England. The letter pointed out that while American people, they, as well as the American taxpayers, are being duped to enrich British monopolies.

C. W. Harder

Britain has no anti-trust laws, so independent British business has been steadily dying on the vine. But Washington officials continue to use American taxes to support British monopolies.

Here's a clear cut example. British interests control the supply of world tin, and the U.S., consuming 65% of all tin produced, is the world's biggest tin customer. Right after Korea, tin prices were more than doubled. To combat the gouge on American consumers, the RFC took over buying of all tin, pegging the price lower than the asking price, at $1.12 per pound.

Since the Churchill visit the U.S. is now paying $1.18 per pound due to a very wierd deal.

The deal requires that the U. S. furnish during 1952 1,400,000 tons of steel. The deal states "the price (on the steel) will be the controlled price of the mills making delivery". This means that OPS now works for Britain. "It's a good thing the OPS is going to work for somebody at long last", is the comment heard.

Britain, on the other hand, agrees to sell the U.S. 20,000 tons of tin at a price of $1.18 per pound. The terms of the deal @National Federation of Independent Business gives British monopoly a "lead pipe cinch" on U.S. tin supplies.

In addition, if the U.S. decides more than 20,000 tons of Malaysian tin is needed in 1952, British monopoly will still gain in a fantastic use of the "heads I win, tails you lose" plan.

For the terms state that if the U.S. pays higher than $1.18 per pound, the new higher price will be paid on tin from Britain. If the U.S. buys at a lower price, the U.S. will pay Britain the difference between the lower price on additional tin and the price of $1.18 per pound up to the full amount of any loss Britain may incur in buying tin to supply at $1.18 per pound.

The British will also police all U.S. tin buying.

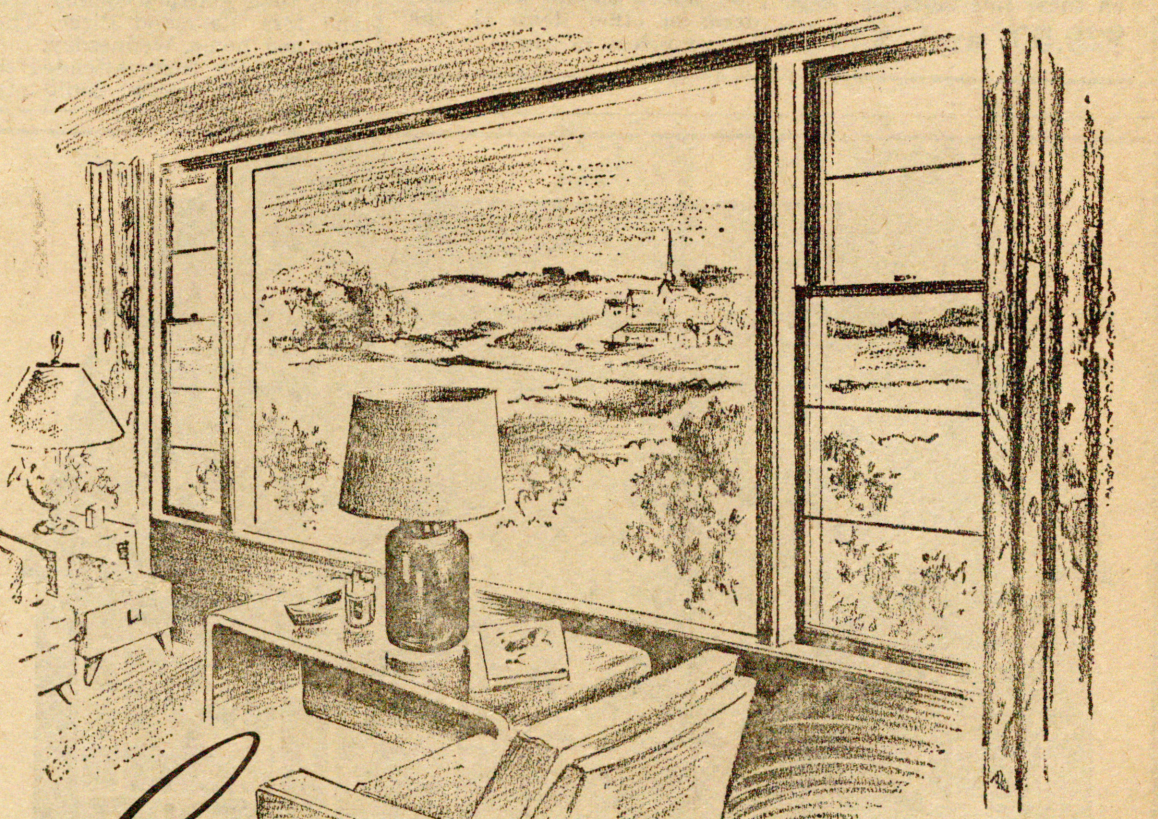

The U.S. will not deal with private tin companies without consulting Downing Street.

Thus, monopoly is given full U.S. support. Even if a small tin producer showed up who could sell tin to the U.S. at a lower price, he would be barred from competing with monopoly.

This agreement is as foreign to the ideas of American free trade as Kremlin views on a free election. It explains the sickness of the British economy. No economy can support both a free people and monopoly.

In the meantime, the Office of Price Stabilization, better known as Office Plenty Screw has made another great decision.

Popcorn, both popped and unpopped, is now exempt from price control. But OPS states "should inflationary tendencies develop it may restore controls." You can't be too careful these days. Uncontrolled popcorn might pop off new inflations except OPS is standing guard.
